DID YOU KNOW...

The ACC boasts 14 NCAA Men's Soccer national titles and has appeared in the title game on 21 occasions. The league has won the last three consecutive College Cups (Virginia '09, Maryland '08, Wake Forest '07) and four of the past five crowns.

2010 NCAA MEN'S SOCCER COLLEGE CUP NOTES

The ACC had five teams selected to the 2010 NCAA Tournament Field of 48 announced by the NCAA Division I Men's Soccer Committee.

Two of the five ACC teams receiving a bid earned a top 4 national seed. Maryland (2), North Carolina (4) earned byes, while Boston College, Duke and Virginia received at-large invites.

Since seeding began in 1994, the ACC has been awarded the top seed 10 of the possible 17 years.

The ACC has had at least one team in the College Cup Final Four 10 consecutive years.

The ACC owns 14 NCAA Men's Soccer national titles and has appeared in the championship game on 21 occasions.

The league has won the last three consecutive College Cups (Virginia '09, Maryland '08, Wake Forest '07) and four of the past five crowns (Virginia '09, Maryland '08, Wake Forest '07, Maryland '05).

In 2008, the ACC became the only league in NCAA Tournament history to place three teams in the same College Cup. And for the first time in NCAA history, the NCAA had two teams from the same conference competing for the national title (Maryland vs. North Carolina, 2008).

North Carolina led all schools with six student-athletes on the 2010 All-ACC first and second teams. Eight of the ACC's nine men's soccer programs were represented, while eight programs were also accounted for on the league's All-Freshmen squad. Four freshmen from the NC State men's soccer team were named to TopDrawerSoccer's Top 100 Freshmen list.

Duke sophomore Andrew Wenger, Maryland junior Matt Kassel, and UNC senior Michael Farfan have been selected as semifinalists for the Missouri Athletic Club's Hermann Trophy. The ACC trio is included in a list of 15 semifinalists for the most prestigious college men's soccer award.

PLAYERS OF THE YEAR

Duke earned the two top ACC postseason individual accolades – 2010 ACC Offensive Player of the Year Ryan Finley and Defensive Player of the Year Andrew Wenger, while Maryland's newcomer Patrick Mullins collected Freshman of the Year nods.

Finley, a sophomore striker, paces the Duke offense with a school record and league-high 17 goals, including five in conference play. The 2009 All-Freshman selection dominated the ACC in shots (48, 6.00 pg) and ranked second in goals (5, 0.62).

Wenger, a sophomore center back that was named the 2009 ACC Freshman of the Year, led a Blue Devil back line that allowed 1.12 goals in league action and had only nine goals against.

Mullins leads all Terrapin underclassmen with four goals, ranking fourth in scoring on Maryland's team, and is among the top 10 ACC players in assists in conference play (2).

RECAP

Second-seeded Maryland outlasted top-seeded North Carolina, 1-0, to win the 2010 ACC Men's Soccer Championship on Nov. 14 at WakeMed Soccer Park. It was the fourth ACC title for the Terrapins, who held the Tar Heels scoreless for the first time since the season opener.

"We are delighted to be standing here as ACC champions," said Maryland coach Sasho Cirovski. "We knew it was going to be a tough game from the beginning. We have tremendous respect for Carolina – their players and coaches."

Maryland struck early on Matt Kassel's penalty kick at the 13:46 mark. The first-team All-ACC honoree sent the ball into the left back corner of the net to give the Terrapins the 1-0 lead.

The Tar Heels had to play the final 55 minutes down a man after first-team All-ACC midfielder Michael Farfan received a red card after a hard tackle in the 34th minute.

Despite playing without their second-leading scorer and an All-Tournament team selection for much of the game, the fourth-ranked Tar Heels outshot No. 3 Maryland, 16-9. North Carolina registered six shots in the second half while the Terrapins were without a shot after intermission.

Maryland extended its winning streak to 13 games as it improved to 17-2-1. The Terrapins, who defeated Virginia for the 2008 ACC Championship, claimed their second conference title in the last three years. North Carolina's unbeaten streak was snapped at 12 matches.
