TEAM PREVIEW

For the first time since the Pac-10 merged its Northern and Southern baseball divisions in 1999, the Washington baseball team enters a new season on the heels of an NCAA Regional appearance the year before. Washington was mired in the midst of a disappointing season midway through the 2002 campaign, but turned its fortunes completely around in the second half, ending the year in third place in the powerful Pac-10 and earning a trip to an NCAA Regional in Rice. "The big thing is that we have a lot of experience," says Ken Knutson, who enters his 11th year as the Huskies' head coach in 2003. "That's not so unusual. But we have a chance to play no entirely new starters at any position on a given day."

PITCHING

The Huskies received a welcomed surprise when righty Sean White decided to return for his senior season. "Whitey was one of our key guys and his success paralleled the team's," Coach Knutson says. "He had a rough early period then caught fire down the stretch. "We didn't feel like we'd get him back. We felt that he was perhaps our top junior prospect last season. He should be one of the top pitchers in the Conference." A second returning starter to the Husky rotation is junior Clay Johnson, who emerged as a reliable weekend starter late last season. "Clay, like White, struggled early," says Knutson, "then he added a slider and that gave him an out pitch. After that, he pitched well and competed. He was outstanding in the regional." The third spot in the weekend rotation is technically still up for grabs, as are the fourth and fifth spots. However, junior Trevor Gibson, who has spent his first two years pitching exclusively out of the bullpen, emerged as the top candidate after an outstanding fall practice season.

HITTING

The Huskies return some powerful hitters in Tila Reynolds (.347), Kyle Larsen (.342) and John Otness (.333). The three combined for 188 hits, 33 doubles and 90 RBI in 2002, helping the Huskies finish fifth in the Conference in batting average and third in total bases. UW also hit 77 homeruns over the course of the year, good enough to place second in the Pac-10.

FIELDING

The Huskies return three quarters of their infield from last season in tact, thanks again to a pleasant surprise in the form of three-year starting shortstop Tila Reynolds. At first base, the Huskies welcome back sophomore Kyle Larsen, a Freshman All-America after batting .342 and going through his first college season without an error. Last year, junior Greg Isaacson entered the lineup about a third of the way into the season and never lost his starting spot thanks to outstanding defense and a .315 average. Reynolds, who's started 158 career games at shortstop, decided not to sign a pro contract after getting drafted in the 13th round last season. With the loss of three-year starting third baseman Michael Done, Washington will have one new starter in the infield, but junior John Otness has actually started 58 games over the last two seasons - at third, second and DH.

2000 (Freshman) --Named a first-team Freshman All-American by Collegiate Baseball after spending the season as the Huskies' starting catcher ...made 48 starts at catcher, including 31 of the last 33 ... hit safely in 16 of last 20 and 21 of last 26 regular season games ... a major reason for the Huskies' second-half turnaround as he batted .302, allowed only four passed balls and threw out 11 of 21 basestealers over the last 32 games of the year ... played so well defensively in the NCAA Houston Regional that he made the all-regional team despite going only 1-for-17 at the plate in the tournament ... allowed only one stolen base and picked off two in the regional ... shared the Pac-10 lead for most pickoffs over the course of the season with four ... had two hits and a homer in each of the first two games at Oregon State.

TILA Reynolds

IF, Sr., R-R, 5-11, 185

2002 (Junior) - Capped a tremendous junior season by being drafted in the 13th round by the Milwaukee Brewers, but elected to return to the UW for his senior season ... named to the NCAA Houston Regional all-tournament team after an outstanding regional ... usually batted No. 2 and hit .403 (60-for-149) when batting second in the order (37 games) ... led the team with his .347 average, five triples, and 19 stolen bases ... 16 HBP's in a season were third most in UW history, as were his five triples ... nine career triples rated No. 4 on the Husky career chart and 27 HBP's were sixth-most ever ... ranked in the top-10 in the Pac-10 in five categories: third in hit by pitch (16), triples (five), and steals (19); sixth in hits (83); and seventh in at bats (239).

KEN Knutson

Career Record: 347-235-1 (10 years)

Record at Washington: 347-235-1 (10 years)

Under the direction of head coach Ken Knutson the 2002 Washington squad advanced to the NCAA Regionals for the first time since 1998. Knutson guided the Huskies to a winning record of 33-27 overall.

In ten seasons as head coach, Ken Knutson has led the Huskies to two Pacific-10 Conference championships, four Pac-10 Northern Division crowns and two second-place finishes and has earned the Pac-10 North Coach of the Year three times.

With a 347-235-1 (.596) overall record and a 155-106 (.594) Pac-10 mark, Knutson ranks 2nd on the all-time Husky coaching wins list, having passed legendary Dorsett "Tubby" Graves two years ago, who spent 27 seasons as the UW head coach. Knutson has sent 38 players onto the professional ranks, coached 38 All Pac-10/North first-team players and 24 Pac-10 All-Academic honorees. Also, seven different Husky players have participated with the USA Baseball National Team, something that hadn't been done until Knutson's arrival.

Directly prior to being named the head coach at UW, Knutson was enrolled in the master's program at Wichita State and working as an assistant coach. From 1990-92, he served as assistant coach for the Huskies. From 1982-86 he handled the Husky pitching staff.
