Texas State Basketball History

SOUTHWEST TEXAS STATE NORMAL SCHOOL - 1899-1925

1920 — The first win for Southwest Texas came in its fifth game of the 1920 season, a 25-19 victory over Howard Payne. The win came just a few days after a 21-16 loss and was one of three wins over the Yellow Jackets during a 14-game season.

SOUTHWEST TEXAS STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE - 1925-1959

1933 — Southwest Texas earned its 100th victory under coach Harry G. Shands, defeating Trinity 35-22.

1944 — Southwest Texas was unable to field a team due to World War II.

1950 — Southwest Texas claimed its first conference championship under legendary coach Milton Jowers.

1951 — Just one year later, Southwest Texas and Jowers made the school's first appearance at a national tournament, winning the NAIA District 4 title and advancing to Kansas City.

1952 — In arguably the program's finest season, Southwest Texas finished 30-1, including the 300th win in school history. The club's only loss was a 70-67 overtime decision against Southwest Missouri State in the NAIA national semifinals. SWT rebounded to defeat Portland 78-68 to finish third.

1961 — New head coach Vernon McDonald helped SWT to the program's 500th win early in the 1961-62 season.

1987 — In the second season for head coach Harry Larrabee, Southwest Texas moved into the Southland Conference.

1994 — Making history in his third season at Southwest Texas, head coach Jim Wooldridge guided the Bobcats to a 25-7 campaign and the first NCAA Division I post-season appearance. On the way to the "Big Dance," SWT won three games at the 1994 SLC tournament, the school's first three SLC post-season victories. The Bobcats took on Massachusetts at the NCAA Regional in Wichita, Kan.

1997 — For the second time in four years, Southwest Texas advanced to the NCAA Tournament, after winning a share of the SLC regular season title and the SLC post-season Classic. SWT also posted the program's 1000th victory on Jan. 4, 1997 with an 82-73 win over Nicholls State.

1999 — Southwest Texas won its first outright regular season SLC Title with a 13-5 record. The Bobcats also achieved national acclaim by finishing second in the nation in field goal defense, allowing opponents to shoot just 37.3 percent. SWT made history again when 6-foot-11 forward Jeff Foster was selected with the 21st pick of the first round of the 1999 NBA Draft.

2000 — Southwest Texas welcomed Dennis Nutt as its new head coach, the 14th head coach in SWT men's basketball history.
