Quick Facts:

- Squash was one of the original women's varsity sports introduced at Princeton in the 1971-72 academic year. The others were basketball, crew, field hockey, swimming and tennis.
- Julia Beaver '01 became the first women's squash player in Ivy League history to win the Player and Rookie of the Year awards in the same season when she accomplished the feat in 1997-98. Beaver was the league's Player of the Year and the USWISRA national champion in 1999.
- In addition to an impressive .868 winning percentage in dual meets, the highest of any Princeton squad, the women's squash team has won 85% of its Howe Cup matches (124-23). That event, held annually in New Haven, Conn., determines the national intercollegiate team champion. Princeton has captured 14 of 26 Howe Cup titles.
- The team once went five consecutive seasons (1977-78 to 1981-82) without losing a dual match and had an overall winning streak of 40 dual matches.
- Katherine Johnson '97, Princeton's only other two-time Ivy League Player of the Year besides Julia Beaver, is one of four Tigers to win the USWISRA singles championship.
- Eight Princetonians have been four-time All-Ivy League selections: Patrice McConnell '84, Demer Holleran '89, Mary Foulk '91, Hope McKay '92, Jen Roos '92, Katherine Johnson '97, Missy Wyant '98, Elise O'Connell '99.
- Former head coach Betty Constable, whose husband Pepper was a football standout at Princeton in the 1930s, is the most well-known name in the sport. Constable was responsible for establishing the collegiate division of the Howe Cup, a trophy which was originally awarded in 1928 and named for the leading family in women's squash at the time — Mrs. William F. Howe, Jr., and her twin daughters, Peggy and Betty.
- Former head coach Emily Goodfellow '76, who had never played squash before coming to Princeton, had a career dual-match mark of 21-3 and reached the WISRA final as a junior, losing to teammate Wendy Zaharko '75. Goodfellow owns the distinction of being the only Princeton athlete to earn 12 varsity letters.
