

#35 PETE BRENNAN

Pete Brennan had a great career as a Tar Heel, averaging 16.4 points and 10.5 rebounds per game for his career as a forward, but he is best remembered for a single play, a play that saved an NCAA title. The undefeated 1957 Carolina team was trailing Michigan State, 64-62, in the NCAA semifinals. There were only 11 seconds remaining in the first overtime period when the Spartans' Johnny Green missed a free throw and Brennan snared the rebound. Instead of making the outlet pass out to a guard as he ordinarily would have done, Brennan raced down court with the ball. Two Michigan State defenders got back to defend, so Brennan pulled up for a jump shot from the foul line. The jumper floated through the net with four seconds remaining, forcing another overtime period. UNC survived, downing the Spartans in triple overtime before subsequently defeating Kansas in triple overtime the next day in the title game of one of the most storied Final Fours in NCAA history. Brennan is still 11th in the Tar Heel record books in career rebounds. As a senior in 1958, he led the squad in scoring at a 21.3 clip, earning first-team All-America and ACC Player-of-the-Year honors.

11 LARRY BROWN

Larry Brown, an outstanding guard in the early 1960s, was the first Carolina player to compete in the Olympic Games. He was a member of the 1964 U.S. team that won the gold medal in Tokyo, Japan. Brown came off the bench in the gold medal game versus the Soviet Union and helped to spark a comeback win. He was known as a fine passer and ball-handler who could score when needed. As a junior in 1962, Dean Smith's first year as Carolina head coach, Brown led the squad in scoring with a 16.5 average. The following year marked the arrival of Billy Cunningham on the varsity team and Brown willingly sacrificed his own scoring numbers to distribute the ball to the future Hall-of-Famer. Brown's scoring average fell slightly that year, but he was named All-ACC nonetheless. Brown later served as an assistant coach under Smith before becoming a player and three-time all-star in the ABA. He won an NCAA title in 1988 as the head coach at Kansas and is now a successful head coach in the NBA.

CARTWRIGHT CARMICHAEL

Cartwright Carmichael earned first-team All-America honors in 1923, becoming the first UNC athlete to attain the honor in any sport. Regarded as an excellent shooter in his day and respected as a graceful player overall, Carmichael was tabbed as an All-America again in 1924 and garnered All-Southern Conference honors for three straight years from 1922-24. He was also named to the All-Southern Conference Tournament Team in 1924. During his three varsity seasons at Carolina, the Tar Heels were 56-7, and he led UNC teams to two Southern Conference regular-season championships and two Southern Conference tournament titles. Carmichael, who lettered on the 1922, 1923 and 1924 teams, led the Tar Heels to an undefeated season his senior year and to Carolina's first national championship as voted by the Helms Foundation. In 1922, Carmichael and his brother, Billy, became the first brothers to ever play together on the same Carolina basketball team. That feat was equaled in 1994-95 by Pat and Ryan Sullivan. A versatile athlete, Carmichael also lettered as an outfielder in baseball.

#15 VINCE CARTER

A consensus second-team All-America selection in 1997-98, Vince Carter helped lead Carolina to consecutive ACC championships and Final Four appearances in 1997 and 1998. Carter may be the most prolific and spectacular dunker in Tar Heel history, and by the end of his three-year career had developed into an outstanding all-around player. Carter was once featured on ESPN's Plays of the Week six consecutive weeks for his incredible aerial displays. By his junior year he also was a great defender.

The Daytona Beach, Fla., native was named first-team All-ACC as a junior after averaging 15.6 points and 5.1 rebounds per game and shooting an ACC-leading 59.1 percent from the field. He was sensational in the NCAA Tournament that year.

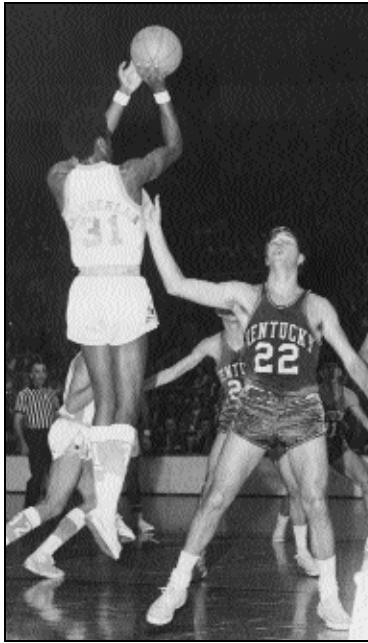

He entered the NBA Draft after his junior season and was the fifth pick in the first round by the Toronto Raptors. He won NBA Rookie of the Year honors in 1999 and won a gold medal with the U.S. Olympic Team in Sydney, Australia in 2000.

#31 BILL CHAMBERLAIN

Bill Chamberlain was one of a string of players from the New York City area to play basketball at UNC and the second black scholarship player in Carolina history, following fellow New Yorker Charlie Scott. Chamberlain was the Tar Heel hero as a junior when Carolina won the 1971 NIT title. When All-ACC forward Dennis Wuycik went down with a knee injury in the tournament opener against Massachusetts, he picked up the slack. He hit 10 of 15 shots and scored 24 points versus the Minutemen, while holding the great Julius Erving to just 13 points. Chamberlain had 19 points in the next game against Providence, 10 versus Duke in the semifinal and a career-high 34 in the title game as Carolina routed Georgia Tech, 84-66. He hit 13 of 18 shots from the field in the championship game while also grabbing 10 rebounds and the tournament MVP award. A 6-6 forward known for his quickness and all-around game, Chamberlain finished his career among the Tar Heel leaders in career field goal percentage at 54.0 percent. He was named a second-team All-America after his senior season.

JACK COBB (retired)

UNC's first three-time All-America, Jack Cobb teamed with Cartwright Carmichael in 1924 to lead the Tar Heels to their first national championship. He captained the 1925 squad during his junior year and in 1926 garnered National Player-of-the-Year honors from the Helms Foundation. During his three varsity seasons, Cobb averaged 15 points per game in an era when the entire Tar Heel team averaged only about 35 points per contest. Known as "Mr. Basketball," Cobb was a 6-2 forward who could do it all. He was a slick passer and a great rebounder in addition to being a deadly scoring threat. Cobb was named to the All-Southern Conference Team in 1924, 1925 and 1926 and was first-team All-Southern Conference Tournament the latter two years. The three teams he played on went 66-10 and won three straight Southern Conference tournament and regular-season championships.

Shortly after he graduated from UNC, Cobb was involved in an automobile accident in which he lost part of his left leg. Nevertheless, he devoted most of his spare time to coaching Little League baseball teams. He died in 1966 at the age of 62. Cobb is a member of the Helms Hall of Fame and the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame.

#32 BILLY CUNNINGHAM

His exceptional leaping ability not only earned him the nickname "The Kangaroo Kid," it also enabled Billy Cunningham to win three Atlantic Coast Conference rebounding titles in a row. Cunningham remains the third-leading rebounder in Tar Heel history. He was named ACC Player of the Year in 1965 and first-team All-ACC three years in a row. In 1963 and 1964, he was named first-team All-ACC Tournament despite the fact the Tar Heels didn't reach the finals either year. He was on the U.S. Basketball Writers Association All-

America team in 1964 and 1965 and on the Helms Foundation team his senior year. He led the ACC in scoring two years in a row with 26.0 points per game in 1964 and 25.4 in 1965. For his 69-game Carolina career, he averaged 24.8 points and 15.4 rebounds per game.

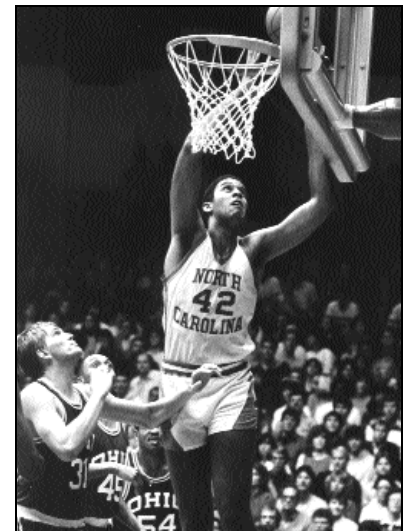

Cunningham was tabbed as Carolina's Most Valuable Player three straight years and he was an All-Academic ACC pick as a senior. In 1965, the College Sports Information Directors of America also named him to their Academic All-America team. Cunningham was picked in the first round of the NBA draft in 1965 by the Philadelphia 76ers. He played 11 years of professional basketball, including two years in the ABA and nine years in the NBA. He was the NBA Rookie of the Year with Philadelphia, the ABA Player of the Year with the Carolina Cougars and the NBA Coach of the Year with the 76ers. He played on a world championship team with the 76ers in 1967 and then coached Philadelphia to the NBA title in 1983. He was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., in 1985 and was named one of the NBA's 50 greatest players of all time in 1997.

#42 BRAD DAUGHERTY

Brad Daugherty came to Carolina as a 16-year-old freshman with a big body and soft shooting touch and left four years later as one of the best players in Tar Heel history. He finished his career as UNC's alltime leader in career field goal percentage at .620, a record since broken by Rasheed Wallace and Brendan Haywood. Daugherty is the eighth-leading scorer and sixth-leading rebounder in Carolina annals and was known for his solid post moves and tremendous work ethic.

He entered Carolina as a freshman in the fall of 1982 and was a starter for the defending national champion Tar Heels by late December. He also was a member of the 1984 squad that posted a perfect 14-0 ACC mark. UNC went 111-26 overall during his four years in Chapel Hill. Daugherty scored in double figures in 32 of his 34 games and led the conference in both scoring and rebounding as a senior in 1986. For his efforts, he was named All-ACC for the second consecutive year, selected to several first- and second-team All-America squads and was a finalist for the Wooden Award as national player of the year. Daugherty capped his senior year by winning the Patterson Medal, the highest athletic award given annually at UNC to a Tar Heel senior who has demonstrated general excellence, sportsmanship, leadership and general conduct during his collegiate career. After the conclusion of his tenure in Carolina Blue, Daugherty was the first pick overall in the 1986 NBA draft, selected by the Cleveland Cavaliers. In 1997, the Cavaliers retired his jersey.

#24 WALTER DAVIS

A tremendous all-around player, Walter Davis played on ACC championship teams in 1975 and 1977. "Sweet D" played brilliantly in the 1975 ACC Tournament, hitting 22 of his 33 shots from the floor in the three-game affair. He scored 31 points against Wake Forest in the quarterfinals and held National Player of the Year David Thompson of N.C. State to a seven-for-21 shooting performance in the title game. Davis ensured his spot in the annals of the greatest plays in Tar Heel history as a freshman in 1974. He banked in a 35-foot shot at the buzzer against Duke in Carmichael Auditorium, tying the score and helping Carolina rally from an eight-point deficit in the game's final 17 seconds. Led by Davis' 31 points, UNC went on to win the game in overtime in one of the most famous installments in college basketball's most storied rivalries. Along with Mitch Kupchak, Tommy LaGarde and Phil Ford, Davis was one of four Tar Heels to play on the gold medal-winning 1976 Olympic squad for UNC head coach Dean Smith and assistant Bill Guthridge. Davis was a great shooter, tremendous passer, brilliant defender and solid rebounder. He still stands ninth in Tar Heel history in scoring and 11th in assists. He went on to be named the NBA Rookie of the Year in 1978 and was a five-time all-star as a professional.

#13 JOHN "HOOK" DILLON

John Dillon gained national fame early in 1946 against New York University in Madison Square Garden by scoring 21 points, many on his deadly hook shot. The media at the game declared Dillon's patented shot to be among the best ever seen in the Garden and he since has been known as "Hook" Dillon. He earned All-America honors in both 1946 and 1947 and was the leading scorer on the 1946 squad, the first Carolina team to reach the NCAA Final Four. The '46 Tar Heels reached the national finals before losing to Oklahoma A&M. During that march to the NCAA title game, Dillon again turned in great performances in Madison Square Garden, scoring 16 points against NYU, 15 versus Ohio State and 16 in the finals against Oklahoma A&M and its powerful center, Bob Kurland. Dillon played for the Tar Heels from 1945 through 1948 after playing three years in the Savannah (Ga.) Ice Delivery city league and a time at the Benedictine Military Academy. Dillon was Carolina's second-leading scorer as a freshman behind All-America Jim Jordan.

#12 PHIL FORD (retired)

Phil Ford is a player sure to be included with college basketball's alltime greatest guards. The surgeon-like precision with which Ford captained Coach Dean Smith's famed "Four Corners" offense is perhaps the talent for which he is best remembered. He is UNC's alltime leading scorer with 2,290 points and ranks third in assists with 753. In his 123 career games, Ford averaged 18.6 points and 6.1 assists per contest. A three-time first-team All-America in 1976, 1977 and 1978, Ford directed Carolina to three straight first-place ACC regular-season finishes as well as ACC Tournament titles in 1975 and 1977 and the NCAA championship game in 1977. Ford, who started at the point guard position four successive seasons, was named the National Player of the Year in 1978 by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, the National Association of Basketball Coaches and The Sporting News. That year, he also won the John Wooden Award. Ford played on the 1976 gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic Team under the leadership of Coach Smith and was named to the All-Tournament team by UPI. Ford, who won the Everett Case Award his freshman year for leading UNC to the ACC tournament title over defending national champion N.C. State, was named first-team All-ACC his final three years as a Tar Heel. He also was named first-team All-ACC Tournament three times. The ACC Athlete of the Year in 1977 and 1978 and the ACC Men's Basketball Player of the Year the latter season, Ford scored a career-high 34 points in a 1978 victory over Duke in his last regular-season game at Carmichael Auditorium, boosting Carolina to the ACC regular-season title in the process.

Ford's teams went 99-24 in his four seasons at UNC, while he shot .527 from the field and .808 from the line. Ford played seven seasons in the NBA and was the league's Rookie of the Year in 1979 with the Kansas City Kings. Ford served as a Tar Heel assistant coach from 1988-2000,

#20 GEORGE GLAMACK (retired)

Although his poor eyesight kept him from focusing on the rim of the basket, George Glamack overcame those odds and put together a remarkable college career. He shot the ball according to the lines painted on the court, earning the nickname "The Blind Bomber." In 1940 and 1941, he was named All-Southern Conference, All-America and National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation.

A master at maneuvering in the paint, Glamack had a deadly hook shot with either hand. In 1940, he was named first-team All-Southern Conference Tournament as he helped lead Carolina to the Southern Conference championship. As captain of the 1941 squad, he averaged 20.6 points per game, an incredible mark for the time. He led the 1941 team to the Southern Conference regular-season title and to UNC's first appearance in the NCAA Tournament. He played five seasons in the professional ranks in the 1940s with teams in Akron, Rochester, N.Y., Indianapolis and Hammond, Ind. Glamack always hoped his career would be an inspiration to other handicapped people who dreamed of participating in organized sports.

#33 ANTAWN JAMISON (retired)

One of the quickest and most relentless forwards ever to play at Carolina, Antawn Jamison burst onto the scene as a freshman and was a star for three spectacular seasons. In his first season, he led the ACC in field goal percentage, something no freshman had ever done in league history, grabbed 20 rebounds in a win at Virginia and became the first Tar Heel freshman to earn first-team All-ACC honors.

As a sophomore he led the Tar Heels with 19.4 points and 9.4 rebounds per game and was among the top three in the ACC in scoring, rebounding and field goal percentage. He led UNC to ACC Tournament and NCAA East Regional titles.

As a junior, Jamison was the unanimous National Player of the Year. He became the second Tar Heel and third player in ACC history to be named ACC Player of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP, NCAA Regional MVP and National Player of the Year in the same season. Jamison scored 822 points, the second-highest figure in UNC history, and grabbed a single-season UNC-record 389 rebounds. He averaged 22.2 points and 10.5 rebounds a contest, the first double-double by a Tar Heel since Mitch Kupchak in 1976. Jamison received the Patterson Medal as Carolina's top senior athlete and the McKeelin Award as the Top Male Athlete in the ACC.

Jamison is the only player in ACC history to earn first-team All-ACC honors as a freshman, sophomore and junior. In three career home games against Duke, Jamison averaged 30.3 points and 12.0 rebounds in three victories. Against Duke in the 1998 ACC Tournament final, Jamison overcame a leg muscle injury to tally 22 points and 18 rebounds.

Jamison is fourth in career rebounding at UNC with 1,027 and seventh in scoring with 1,974 points. He entered the NBA Draft after his junior year and was selected fourth overall. As a rookie in 1998-99 with the Golden State Warriors, he was named second-team All-Rookie.

#34 BOBBY JONES

One of the most complete players in ACC history, Bobby Jones excelled at all areas of the game. As a sophomore, he rotated in and out of the lineup with Dennis Wuycik and Bill Chamberlain, averaging 10.2 points per game and hitting 66.8 of his field goals, still the ACC single-season record. Jones posted one of the best all-around seasons in Carolina history as a junior, averaging 15.0 points, 10.5 rebounds and 4.0 assists per game. He led the ACC in field goal percentage three times and stands fourth in UNC history in career field goal percentage at 60.8 percent. As a senior in 1974, Jones provided two of the most famous moments in Tar Heel lore. In a game at Duke, he stole a Blue Devil inbounds pass and dribbled the length of the floor for a layup at the buzzer to give Carolina a 73-71 victory. In the rematch at Carmichael Auditorium, Jones scored four points in an amazing Tar Heel rally from eight points down with 17 seconds left in regulation. He scored 24 points for the game and UNC won in overtime, 96-92. Jones earned a position on the 1972 Olympic Team after just his sophomore season, and he later earned All-America honors as a senior. He went on to be named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team eight consecutive years, won the NBA Sixth Man Award in 1983 and was a member of the world champion Philadelphia 76ers in 1983. Jim Jordan was a star player who came to Carolina during World War II. He played at Mount St. Mary's College for one year and was the team's captain and leading scorer. The Navy transferred him to the ROTC unit at UNC and he became an immediate star for the Tar Heels, lifting Carolina to a 22-6 record. Jordan was the only unanimous selection to the All-Southern Conference team in 1945. A good shooter, Jordan also was a solid rebounder, ball-handler and the team's steadiest leader. second-stringers, he often would leave Jordan in the game to help calm them down. He was a star for the 1946 team that posted a 30-5 record and reached the NCAA finals before losing to Oklahoma A&M. The 1946 season marked Carolina's first NCAA Final Four appearance. Jordan was a second-team All-America choice in 1945 and a first-team selection in '46.

#21 MITCH KUPCHAK

Mitch Kupchak was the first freshman to play basketball at Carolina after the freshman eligibility rule went into effect prior to the 1972-73 season. He was a top reserve that year, an alternate starter as a sophomore and one of the top players in the ACC as a junior and senior. Kupchak averaged double figures in both points and rebounds in both 1975 and '76. No Tar Heel player had posted a double-figure rebounding average after Kupchak until Antawn Jamison did in 1997-98. He is fifth in UNC history in career rebounds with 1,006. Kupchak was an All-ACC selection as both a junior and senior and an All-America choice as a senior in 1976. He was also the ACC

Player of the Year in 1976 as he sparked Carolina to a 25-4 record. A fearless competitor, Kupchak played the game as hard as anyone. He dove for loose balls with abandon despite persistent back pain. He underwent surgery between his junior and senior seasons, forcing him to miss the 1975 Pan Am Games. Nonetheless, he battled back from his surgery to be the starting center on the gold-medal-winning 1976 U.S. Olympic Team and gain recognition on UPI's All-Olympic Team as one of the five best players in the entire Games. He joined fellow Tar Heels Walter Davis, Phil Ford and Tommy LaGarde on the '76 Olympic squad coached by UNC head coach Dean Smith and assistant Bill Guthridge.

Kupchak went on to a successful professional career, playing on three NBA championship teams with the Washington Bullets and Los Angeles Lakers. He has worked in the Lakers' front office since the 1986-87 season, helping to put together Laker teams that won world titles in 1987, 1988 and 2000. In August 2000, he was named the Lakers' General Manager.

#45 TOMMY LAGARDE

One of the biggest "what ifs" in Carolina basketball history surrounds Tommy LaGarde. The Tar Heels were perhaps the hottest team in the nation midway through the 1976-77 season when LaGarde tore ligaments in his knee against Maryland and missed the remainder of the season. Carolina still reached the NCAA finals, but without LaGarde and with Phil Ford and Walter Davis hampered by injuries, the Tar Heels could not defeat Marquette in the championship game. Despite missing over a third of the season, LaGarde was still named second-team All-ACC and second-team All-America after averaging 15.1 points and 7.4 rebounds and hitting 59.3 percent of his field goals before the injury. He also used his quickness and 6-10 size to form an imposing presence in the Tar Heel defense. As a junior he led the ACC in field goal percentage at 61.2 percent and was second in free throw percentage with an 80.9 mark. He is 10th in Carolina history in career field goal percentage at 58.3 percent. LaGarde joined fellow Tar Heels Walter Davis, Phil Ford and Mitch Kupchak on the gold-medal-winning 1976 U.S. Olympic team coached by UNC head coach Dean Smith and Carolina assistant Bill Guthridge. An excellent student, LaGarde was a two-time Academic All-America. He played six seasons in the NBA and was a member of the 1978-79
